VOTE CONCRETE ROAD
FIFTEEN FEET WIDE*Common Council Passes Bond Ordinance For Paper Mill Highway—
Meeting Last Evening

The ordinance providing for a $17,000 bond issue for the construction of the new paper mill road was up for adoption at the meeting of the common council Tuesday evening and was passed by a unanimous vote. The council also passed a resolution providing for a 15-foot concrete road, this to extend from S. Church street on Seth street to Whiting avenue and on Whiting avenue from Seth street to the city limits. The street committee was instructed to advertise for bids in accordance with the plans and specifications prepared by the city engineer.

Alderman Myers said that at Wausau a method of laying concrete, copied from New York city, is being tried out and is giving fine satisfaction. This method makes it possible to lay concrete over macadam without putting in a new bottom. He said he expects to obtain further information from Wausau officials.

Neighbors in the immediate vicinity of the building at 309 Water street, occupied by Max Bloom, petitioned the council for relief from an alleged nuisance and menace to health, resulting, it was said, from the storage of green hides, wool, felt, etc., in the building. E. H. Flentie, special officer for the board of health, said he had arrested Mr. Bloom, who had paid a fine and costs, and that although Mr. Bloom had repeatedly promised not to store green hides in the building he was still using it for that purpose. Alderman Firkus said he understood Mr. Bloom was preparing to move, but the council, nevertheless, passed a motion instructing the board of health to take immediate action.

The Pionke baby, which was operated upon for hair-lip at Ogden hospital, Milwaukee, a few months ago, was brought before the council to show the results of the operation. A bill for the operation and 19 weeks' hospital care was also presented, amounting in all to $340, $50 of which has already been paid by the city. Dr. C. von Neupert, Sr., health officer, read a letter from the state board of health to the effect that a law passed this year by the legislature provides that the state pay for medical and surgical treatment of children born with physical defects when the parents are unable to do so. Although the law was passed since the Pionke child was operated upon, it is believed the city will be reimbursed. Dr. von Neupert will take the matter up further with the state board.

On recommendation of the street committee, it was voted to postpone the work of painting the Clark street bridge and paving the approaches until next year. The finance committee was instructed to place $2,500 in the next budget for that purpose.

W. F. Owen, who has completed the work of recodifying the city ordinances, presented a report. He said he had grouped the ordinances relating to similar subjects, had eliminated some defects without destroying the force of any of the ordinances. At his suggestion all the ordinances were adopted and re-enacted as prepared. The clerk was also instructed to advertise for bids for printing 100, 200 and 500 bound copies of the revised codification of the ordinances and the city charter, as submitted by Mr. Owen. It was stated that many of the books could be sold to lawyers and others.

Frank Somers, 803 Union street, presented a claim for $100 for damages alleged to have been done by his property through which he said had been closed as a result of the construction of a concrete curb and gutter on Union street. He said this claim was for 1917 only and that there will be a constantly recurring action against the city if the surface water is not taken care of. Attorney J. R. Pfiffner also addressed the council in behalf of Mr. Somers, saying Mr. Somers wished to be fair and hoped to make an amicable settlement with the city. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

Mrs. Pearl Puaria, who alleged she tripped and fell over a woven wire fence built to protect a newly-laid cement walk on Jefferson street on the evening of August 5, filed a claim for $500 for alleged damages and medical care. She said she broke her right wrist, dislocated two or three bones therein and was otherwise bruised. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

The street committee reported that the repairs on the Wisconsin river wagon bridge had been completed and, on its recommendation, the bills of the Guarantee Construction Co. of Minneapolis for doing the work were allowed.

A corrected plat of Boyington & Atwell's proposed fifth addition to the city was presented by the street committee. The plat was adopted.

A communication was read announcing the convention of the league of Wisconsin municipalities at Racine Sept. 26, 27 and 28. Ex-President Roosevelt will be a speaker on the 27th.

The board of industrial education reported it would cost $5,977 to conduct the vocational school next year and asked that $4,000 be placed in the budget for that purpose. The board, in explanation, said the cost of maintaining the school had not increased, but that a heavier burden has been placed on cities by the legislature, the state paying less than formerly. This was referred to the finance committee.

J. Iverson presented a proposition for the purchase of the McDonald, Berndt and Gleason buildings, which were purchased some months ago by the city in connection with the South Side park plan. He offered $600 for the three and said, if his offer is accepted, he will move them to locations back of the Dewey Hotel, which he owns, and brick veneer the entire row of buildings from Division to Elk street so that, from the depot, they would give the appearance of a solid brick block, divided into four store buildings. The store buildings would front on the new street to run east and west between Division and Elk. Mr. Iverson's proposition also includes provision for an exchange of small parcels of land between himself and the city, as previously outlined. E. McGlashin, M. E. Bruce and J. A. Cashin, members of the park commission, presented a communication favoring Mr. Iverson's offer, and Mr. Bruce addressed the council along the same lines. It was pointed out that Mr. Iverson's project would greatly improve the appearance of the territory adjacent to the depot and serve as a screen in front of some small frame buildings now visible from trains. Attorney W. F. Owen, appearing for Mr. Iverson, asked the council to give the proposition serious consideration. After a recess the council disposed of the matter temporarily by providing for the appointment of a committee of three to investigate and report at an adjourned meeting next Tuesday evening. Aldermen Playman, Myers and Sparks were named as the committee. The principal objection to Mr. Iverson's proposition is the necessity of suspending the new fire limits ordinance to permit him to brick veneer the buildings.

The bid of $400 submitted by W. N. Wiley for the felt building on the South Side was voted accepted.

Alderman Urowski and Firkus were instructed to look for new quarters for a voting booth in the Fourth ward, the old Olsen house there being no longer available for that purpose.

The street committee was instructed to make an estimate of the cost of lowering the water service pipes on Church street, between Wisconsin and Shaurette, to overcome trouble due to freezing. A petition asking for relief was presented at the last meeting, the city being held responsible.

The street committee was authorized to purchase 11 barrels of tar for road work from the Guarantee Construction Co. of Minneapolis, which had the material left over after completing the repairs on the Clark street bridge. The cost will be about $35.

Alderman Urowski brought up the matter of lack of fire protection in the extreme north portion of the Fourth ward, west of N. Second street. A resolution will be prepared ordering the water company to construct a water main to provide two hydrants, located, probably, at the corners of Sixth avenue and West street and Sixth avenue and Frederick street.

Aldermen McDonald and Manthey were absent from the meeting.

VISITING OLD FRIENDS

Mrs. C. E. Edwards, a resident of Stevens Point several years ago, when her now deceased husband was manager of the Whiting-Plover Paper Co. mill, returned here from Portland, Ore., last week for a visit with Mrs. O. O. Little and other local friends. Mrs. Edwards is enroute to New York city to spend several months with her older son, Morton, who is located there. Lawrence Edwards recently joined the navy and is now in training at Seattle, Wash.

WAS BIRTHDAY PRESENTGeorge Macnash, Now At Battle Creek Camp, Gets Commission on Anniversary

The commission as second lieutenant which George Macnash, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Macnash, now holds in the United States army, was given him on August 14, a date which also marked his 25th birthday anniversary. Lieut. Macnash was then at Fort Sheridan, Mich., where he will be one of the officers of the new national army at Camp Custer.

Letters received from Lieut. Macnash by his parents state he is stationed with the 1st Infantry Regiment, 337th Battalion, Co. I. He says the camping grounds are, in topography and soil, much like Plover Hills, just east of this city. He and the other second lieutenants, 600 in all, have each been given a new Ford runabout for their personal use to facilitate communication with headquarters.

Lieut. Macnash also writes that his cousin, Paul Ayers, whose home is in Iowa and who has been in the regular army, is in his regiment and that it is possible Capt. Ayers will be in charge of Lieut. Macnash's own company.

ACCOMMODATIONS WANTED

THEATRE NOW STRANDGem Is Re-christened and Opening of Rebuilt Playhouse Will Take Place Soon

When the Gem theatre on Strong's avenue is reopened for business, it will have everything new—even the name. The theatre, which has been practically rebuilt and is now one of the most modern and attractive in the state, has been christened the Strand. Several thousand dollars were spent in improving the theatre, which would hardly be recognized as the same building. The old wooden floor was torn out and a concrete one put in its place, with a gradual slope from the front entrance to the stage. The walls and ceiling have also been reconstructed, the ceiling with a beam effect. The interior decorations are in cream, old rose, gold and gray, panels of old rose, with gold borders, and the side walls, furnishing a most pleasing contrast to the cream tint of the background.

A twenty-foot addition was constructed on the rear, providing space for the stage, which has been equipped with new scenery and a gold fibre picture screen of the latest type. The front has also been entirely replaced and is highly attractive. The front is of yellow pine, golden oak finish. As soon as delivery can be made, probably in about six months, an all-steel canopy to hang over the front sidewalk will be put in place and will add further to the exterior attractiveness of the playhouse.

Included in the improvements is a new heating system of the gas-steam type, the first of its kind in Stevens Point. Each radiator is a unit by itself, the steam being generated by gas burners. The system is automatic and guaranteed to heat the building perfectly in the coldest weather. A fan system of ventilation will provide fresh air and exhaust foul air.

The seating capacity of the theatre is now 500, and 200 cushioned seats have been purchased, to be placed in the center of the house. The arrangement of seats is being so carried out that a person viewing the pictures will not be directly behind the person in the seat ahead. This, with the pitch to the floor, will afford audiences a view of the screen with the minimum of obstructiveness. Thirty inches of space is being left between seats, affording plenty of "leg room."

There are two separate indirect lighting systems in the new building, one for the ceiling and one for the side walls.

Although comfort and beauty are embodied in the new building to a marked degree, safety has not been neglected. There is not a step in the entire building, access to the exits and stage being by inclined walks of concrete, a continuance of the floor.

Two new picture machines have been purchased, each with facilities for providing direct current at the arcs, and continuous programs will be run. It is expected that the opening will be next Saturday or the first of next week.

GOES TO FOND DU LAC

Miss Rose Weltman left Saturday for Fond du Lac to begin her first year as teacher in the city schools. She taught last year at Waupaca, where her sister, Miss Marian, which this year be supervisor of domestic science in the High school. Miss Marian was similarly engaged at Ripon, last year. Miss Hattie Weltman, who was graduated from the Stevens Point Normal last June, went to Grand Rapids Saturday and will teach there during the ensuing year.

TAKES NEW POSITION

Walter Krueger, for four years connected with the Natwick Electric Co. in this city, the last year as manager, has resigned and left Monday night for Nekeosa. He has taken a responsible position, as electrician, with the Nekeosa-Edwards Paper Co. at the company's mills at Nekeosa and Port Edwards. Mr. Krueger has made scores of friends in Stevens Point and announcement of his removal from the city will be received with regret.

A BIG ATTENDANCECity Schools Show Increased Enrollment—Over Three Hundred At High School

With the attendance at the High school and most of the ward schools increasing slightly each day since the opening of the schools, the enrollment in the city schools promises to exceed that of last year by a very substantial number. The latest figures obtainable show that already 1,127 pupils have enrolled in the public schools, including the High school, where the enrollment is now 303 and the prospect looks favorable for more. Last year the highest number registered in the High school during the entire year was 300.

A comparison of last year's and this year's enrollment in the ward buildings for the first three days is given below:

NOBLE WITH JOERNSFormer Superintendent of Coyer Furniture Co. Takes Same Position With New Concern

Fred E. Noble Monday morning began work as superintendent of "Factory A" of the Joerns Brothers Manufacturing Co., returning to the position which for six years he held with the old Coyer Furniture Co. The engagement of Mr. Noble as superintendent is in line with the progressive policies inaugurated at the plant by the new management and will be gratifying to stockholders and others interested in the welfare of the concern. Mr. Noble, through many years of experience and natural mechanical ability, has a broad knowledge of the furniture manufacturing business and will be an asset to the Joerns company.

Mr. Noble came to Stevens Point in 1900, when the Coyer Furniture Co. was first organized, and entered the employ of the company as foreman of the carving department. Later he was foreman of the machine room and finally superintendent. He severed his connection with the firm in January, 1910, and for a time thereafter was superintendent of a similar plant at Minneapolis. Returning to Stevens Point a couple of years later he became superintendent of the refining plant of the Wisconsin Graphite Co. at McDill. When this plant was taken over by John Strange of Neenah a year or so ago Mr. Noble went on Mr. Strange's pay-roll and he had since then been acting as foreman in the construction of the new Strange pulp mill at McDill, which is not yet completed.

CUPID HITS EXCHANGEWisconsin Telephone Co. Looking For Operators At Local Office—Help Is Imported

The force of operators depleted by the marriage of two of its members, the departure from the city of another and the illness of still another, Manager W. S. Powell of the Stevens Point exchange of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. has been forced to send out an S. O. S. signal.

To fill the vacancies, temporarily, Miss Lottie DeMarrs of Eau Claire and Miss Mabel Barnes of Chippewa Falls have been transferred to Stevens Point and are now working as toll operators here. Miss Amelia Regli of Eau Claire is also at the exchange and will have charge of the instruction of new young lady employees. Miss Regli will remain for a month or longer.

There are now 21 operators employed at the local exchange and Manager Powell is looking for two or three additional "hello girls." It takes about three weeks for a beginner to familiarize herself with the operation of the switchboard.

VISITORS AT SHAWANO

Shawano Advocate: Ed. and Miss Kathryn Stenger of Green Bay, and Miss Annie Smith of Chicago, came here Sunday to visit with the formers' sister, Mrs. W. F. Tobin. They were accompanied by Margaret Tobin who has been visiting her grandparents in Green Bay for the past two months. Miss Margaret Stoppenbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stoppenbach, will again teach history in the Menasha high school.

Miss Irma Playman was second, with 441,865 votes, and received a diamond lavalliere. Miss Buelah Neumann, third with 332,170 votes, also received a diamond lavalliere.

HE'S NEARLY HUMANStable Not Good Enough For Jungle Man, Trained Ape At Fair—Lives In House

The Jungle Man, the wonderful trained ape which is one of the free attractions at the Stevens Point fair this week, was insulted shortly after his arrival here Sunday.

Algie Bourn, secretary of the fair, wanted to give him accommodations in one of the stables on the grounds. But that was before he learned that the famous quadruped is insured for $20,000 and has adopted many of the modes of living of a human being.

The educated ape arrived in Stevens Point Sunday afternoon and has since been making his quarters in the Sutherland residence at the corner of Mill and Elk streets, with his master and mistress. The Jungle man was a sensation in the east and is making only two fairs in Wisconsin—the one in this city and the big Beaver Dam fair. His antics are nearly human and his act, which will be put on each afternoon of the fair, beginning today, is said to be the most remarkable of its kind ever offered the American public.

In addition to the Jungle Man, the association has booked several other meritorious free acts. Chief Bow and Arrow, who was featured at last year's Minnesota state fair, will perform on the highwire; the Swiss Marvel will appear in a contortion act; the Smiths will stage a comedy bicycle act, and Lyman and Ward will entertain with a comedy acrobatic act.

The program of free attractions will be so arranged that there will be eight big acts, each a leader in its class.

CONFER ON NEW LAWS

A conference on the new vocational education laws, to be attended by members of the board of vocational education and representatives of various business firms of the city, will be held at the vocational school, (formerly the continuation school) Thursday evening. The conference will follow a dinner to be served at 6:30 by girls of the school. G. J. Ehart, director of the institution, is in charge of the arrangements for the meeting the purpose of which is to gather ideas of employers on methods to improve the efficiency of the school and to make plans to comply with new legislation. The school was to have opened its term last Monday, but the large amount of preliminary work necessary caused a postponement.

NO CLUE IS FOUND

Although the authorities have been making every effort to solve the mystery, the thieves who on Tuesday night of last week broke into the H. D. McCulloch store and made away with about $500 worth of kodaks and fountain pens, are still at liberty. Not even a worth-while clue has been found and circumstances tend to strengthen the suspicion that the thieves made away with their loot in an automobile. Very probably the property has already been turned over to some big-city store making a business of selling goods obtained in this manner. Chief Hofsoos has written to Chicago for information regarding pawn shops there.

IS THE TALLEST MANStevens Pointer in Illinois Aviation School Has Distinction—Going To France

The tallest man in Uncle Sam's school for aviators near Belleville, Ill., across the Mississippi from St. Louis, Mo., is Roman Naliborski, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Naliborski of Stevens Point. A picture of him standing alongside the shortest man in the school, occupied a prominent place in a page of views of Camp Scott field, as the school is known, in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of Sept. 1, a copy of which has been received by his uncle, Dr. L. P. Pasternacki, of this city.

Young Naliborski—he is only 21—joined the aviation service last fall and was sent immediately to Texas, where he has since been undergoing training at San Antonio. Recently the new camp near Belleville was completed, at a cost of $750,000, and Naliborski is one of over 300 men now being instructed there. They are taught the rudiments of flying, care of the machines, etc., and are also instructed in French, telegraphy and other academic branches. The squadrons have 40 Curtis machines for their use. Naliborski is a member of the 11th squadron.

The course at Belleville, which was begun three weeks ago, will be completed in two months from the time of beginning. The students will then be sent to France for a higher course, to prepare them for actual service over the firing lines. Twenty percent of the men in the school are millionaires' sons, Naliborski said in a recent letter.

BIG RACE PROGRAM
SET FOR THURSDAY*Speed Events Postponed Today At Fair Will Be Run Off Tomorrow—Gates Are Opened

The rain of this morning caused a postponement of today's speed events of the Stevens Point fair, which opened today, and as result a double program of races will be put on Thursday, beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

A flood of entries came in today, filling nearly all departments to capacity. In the poultry department, which is in charge of J. J. Normington, more than 1,000 fowls are entered making the exhibit by far the largest ever put on in this section of the state. The exposition building is cramped for space and the booths this year are of unusual beauty and interest. Among the displays there is one consisting of 150 different varieties of dahlias, shown by R. K. McDonald, who grew them at his West Side home.

The live stock department is perhaps smaller than last year, but lacks nothing in quality; in fact it is undoubtedly superior in this respect to the showing any previous year. The horticultural building contains an exhibit of potatoes, grains and other farm products of which any county might well feel proud, far surpassing any similar exhibit on record.

The midway is well filled with shows and other concessions and many tents have been erected for automobile and other exhibits. The automobile show is a feature of this year's fair that will attract much interest.

Judging of live stock began this afternoon, including the calves entered by the Portage County Junior club members. The six leading calves shown by boys and girls of the county will be sent to the state fair at Milwaukee Saturday to take part in the state contest, as will also samples of canned goods put up by girls of the club. The leading cow of the Alban & New Hope Cow Testing association, a grade Guernsey which produced 467 pounds of butter fat during the twelve months ending in March, will also be sent to Milwaukee.

The Rosholt Cornet band was on the grounds this afternoon, as was also Weber's band of this city. The free attractions were put on for the crowd that assembled and scored a "hit."

In case of good weather Thursday and Friday, it is altogether probable that all attendance records will go by the boards. The fair this year possesses unusual merit and deserves the united support of residents of the county. Friday will be children's day, when boys and girls of the county will be admitted free, as usual.

The old assembly room in the Normal is being converted into a reading room for use in connection with the library. The floors are being resurfaced and temporary tables and chairs will be installed. The room is to be the permanent library when funds for equipping it for this are available.

PUT IN REFRIGERATOR

A huge new refrigerator, made especially for Nelson Hall, the new dormitory of the local Normal, is being installed. The refrigerator will be in the serving room in the basement, between the kitchen and dining room, and will be in two parts, one opening into the kitchen and one opening into the dining room. It is partly finished in glass.

CITY TO LOSE FACTORY

Alpine Stationery Co. To Move Plant To Green Bay—Capital Stock Is Increased

The Alpine Stationery Co., one of Stevens Point's newest manufacturing concerns, is to move its plant to Green Bay, in accordance with negotiations completed last week. The company is turning down orders for later delivery than October 15 and expects to make the transfer soon after that date. In going to Green Bay the company will increase its capital stock from $10,000 to $30,000, of which $20,000 has been taken by Green Bay residents. They will rent a factory building in the bay city, having been offered six or eight locations there, and will materially increase their output from the start, it is anticipated. New machinery will be installed and in addition to their regular line of tablets, ruled stationery and various other school supplies, they will manufacture envelopes and deal in box paper and job printing.

The Alpine Stationery Co. was incorporated as a Stevens Point concern in September, 1915, and the plant was first located in the Capps building on Clark street, alongside the Soo and Green Bay & Western tracks. In July, 1916, the industry was moved to the old wall paper mill building on the South Side, where it has since been conducted. Sixteen hands are now being employed and during the last two and a half months the plant has been running nights until 10 o'clock. John E. Alpine, who is the organizer of the concern, is its manager and vice president, while his son, Arthur D. Alpine, is secretary and sales manager. A small amount of local capital, outside that held by the Alpines, is invested in the business. The decision to move to Green Bay was reached largely on account of the better shipping facilities that city affords for that line of business. It is also stated that there is a better market there for the raw material used.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Alpine and son and daughter, Arthur D. and Miss Elizabeth, have been residents of Stevens Point since April, 1915, having come here from Ladysmith, where the elder Mr. Alpine was superintendent of the Menasha Paper Co.'s plant. They now reside at 823 Main street. Their removal from Stevens Point will be a matter of regret among the friends they have made during their residence here.

ABRAHAMSON REPORTS TODAY

Jerome H. Abrahamson, a former Normal student, who had been visiting here since enlisting as a hospital apprentice in the naval service, last Friday received orders to report at the naval recruiting station in Milwaukee at 9 a. m. today. He left for Milwaukee this morning. Where he will go from Milwaukee was unknown to him when he was here.

DINGMAN IS TRAINMASTER

L. M. Dingman, a former resident of Stevens Point and who still has property interests here, has been promoted from conductor to the position of trainmaster on the Green Bay & Western railway. Mr. Dingman was conductor for fifteen years or more. His new position was formerly held by Charles F. Smith, son-in-law of Mrs. S. Adams of this city and who is now general manager.

TAKES ROCKFORD POSITION

Miss Mabel Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allen of this city, left last Wednesday night for Rockford, Ill., where she will act as supervisor of music and art in the public schools during the ensuing year. Miss Allen, who taught in the grades of Waupaca last year, is a graduate of the Stevens Point Normal. She completed her university course in the summer session of the University of Chicago the present summer. Her brother, Park Allen, is one of Portage county's members of the new draft army and expects to go to Camp Grant, Rockford, within the next several days.

WELLS IN TRAINING

Howard Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wells and brother of Mrs. E. Atwell of this city, is hard at work with the United States marines at the Paris Island, S. C., training camp. Wells, who had been working for an Oklahoma oil company, with which he held a good position, resigned a few weeks ago and enlisted in the marine corps for the duration of the war. He was sent at once to the training camp, where he expects to remain for ten weeks. Although the work is strenuous, he likes it and that it agrees with him is attested by the fact that he has already taken on eight or ten pounds of weight.

ONLY THREE GET LICENSES

Out of ten candidates for master barbers' licenses who appeared before the state barbers' board of examiners at the N. Berens shop in Stevens Point last Thursday, but three were successful. Included among those who appeared was one woman, Mrs. Ida Specht, who, with her husband, conducts a shop at Wausau. The number of applicants for licenses was smaller than anticipated, owing to the fact that a misunderstanding arose over the change of the place of meeting from Wausau to this city. The opportunity to obtain free shaves and haircuts attracted a surplus of "subjects," according to Secretary A. N. Berens of this city, who said the board would have been able to take care of fifty candidates. Messrs. Smith of Milwaukee and LaDue of Eau Claire, the other two members of the board, returned to their homes Friday morning. Although this was the first time the board has held a session in Stevens Point, it is probable that it will not be the last as the visiting members were highly pleased with the city.

HALL SENDS PROTEST

Stevens Point Showman and Ex-Assemblyman Doesn't Want People's Council in State

"The People's Council of America," organized to further the movement toward peace, has been characterized as "all dressed up with no place to go."

Barred out of Minnesota by Governor Burnquist, who had been advised that the proposed national convention of the council there would result in violence because of the alleged un-American stand of the organization, the council leaders decided to meet at Hudson, Wis. But Hudson didn't want the convention, either, and its mayor virtually "threw them out of the town."

Milwaukee was then suggested, but it was reported that the council would meet with violence there, so the eyes of the leaders were turned toward Washington.

In this connection The Gazette on Saturday received the following letter from Don C. Hall, Stevens Point showman, former assemblyman and Republican candidate for governor at the last primary election:

"Being thoroughly conversant with existing conditions in the state, I feel it my duty, in the interest of public safety, and in the name of the loyal people of Wisconsin, who have spared neither time nor money to promote the patriotic standing of our state, to protest against the proposed meeting of the so-called 'people's council' at Hudson, Wisconsin, or any other similar meeting within our borders."

A copy of the letter was sent to Governor Philipp and other state papers.

He will receive further instructions at Milwaukee and will probably be sent to Newport, R. I., for training. Frank B. Sheman, who joined the yeoman branch of the navy at about the same time as Mr. Rishworth, reported last week and is now at Newport. Mr. Rishworth was in Stevens Point only about six months, but in that short space of time formed many pleasant acquaintances among local residents.

MISSING MEN SHOW UP

Two Who Were Drafted For First Increment of New Army Report —Another Writes

The Portage county court house is becoming a "port of missing men" as a result of the operation of the draft law. During the past several days two men who were notified to appear for examination for military service, but who had not presented themselves, appeared in the office of County Clerk Bourn, secretary of the exemption board, while another communicated with Mr. Bourn by letter.

Joseph Wroblewski, 22, a resident of the town of Belmont, was working as a teamster in Chicago when he found that he had been drafted for the first increment of the new national army. He applied to a Chicago exemption board for examination, but was turned down. Without funds he was up against a perplexing problem, so he "shipped" out as a section laborer for work in Wisconsin. Then he beat his way to Stevens Point, arriving here last Thursday morning. He said he hadn't had anything to eat in three days, so Mr. Bourn gave him the price of a meal and then had him register at a hotel to await disposition of his case. He had already been certified to the district exemption board for service, as provided for in cases of non-appearance. But he's glad he's going into the army.

Aloise Liebe, 23, town of Alban, was at Milwaukee recovering from a broken leg when he received word from his father that his mother was dead and buried and that he was "probably drafted." He hastened home and appeared before Secretary Bourn. He will probably be exempted temporarily, owing to his physical condition as he still walks with a "limp."

Egom Arnold Neue, 21, of Amherst, in a letter to Secretary Bourn, wanted to know if he couldn't be examined by the Oneida county board instead of in this city. As he should have undergone an examination a month ago and has already been certified for service, he can't be accommodated.

DELIVERY CARS COLLIDE

Delivery automobiles of two Stevens Point groceries collided at the intersection of Normal avenue and Prentice street at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, but fortunately without serious results. Hobart Paine, driving the Cashin's Grocery truck, was driving west on Normal avenue, when the H. D. McCulloch Co.'s car, driven by Max Turzinski, approached on Prentice street, going north. At the corner Paine, realizing a collision was imminent, turned sharply to the north and as a result the force of the crash was reduced. The right front wheel of the McCulloch car hit the left front wheel of the Cashin machine and both cars ran into the curb. The front axle and spring of the Cashin machine was twisted and bent, so that both wheels were turned under and lay flat upon the pavement. Nick Zimbar, aged 15, who was riding in the McCulloch car and stepped out onto the running board just before the crash, had one leg and ankle painfully bruised. Nobody else was injured and the McCulloch car was but slightly damaged.

AT TRAINING CAMPS

Two former students of the Stevens Point Normal will serve as infantry officers in the training of the new national army. H. A. Beglinger as captain at the Battle Creek camp and Earle H. Chalk as second lieutenant at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill. Capt. Beglinger and Lieutenant Chalk were both trained for officers at the Fort Sheridan camp. Chalk, whose home is in Rock Island, Ill., was a star football player and track man at the Normal last year.

OFFERED A LIEUTENANCY

Russell Buchan, son of George Buchan of Milwaukee and a former Stevens Point boy, has been offered a first lieutenancy in the signal corps of the United States army. Russell is now agent for the Santa Fe road at Avondale, Col. Owing to the fact that he has a wife and child and is well located at Avondale, he decided not to accept the commission at this time. He has already served three years in the signal corps of the regular army, a year and a half of his enlistment having been spent at Honolulu.

GOING INTO BUSINESS

John Anderson, Manager For G. A. Gullikson Co., To Sell Autos At Grand Rapids

John Anderson, who has been with the G. A. Gullikson Co. of Stevens Point for three years in the capacity of general manager, has closed a deal whereby he will enter the Grand Rapids business field. He will leave here this week to associate himself with James Jensen at Grand Rapids to handle the agency for Ford automobiles in that city and vicinity.

Mr. Jensen has been the Ford agent in Grand Rapids for about six years, while Mr. Anderson has an intimate knowledge of the business, through his connection with the G. A. Gullikson Co., Ford agents here. Messrs. Jensen and Anderson have not decided upon a firm name, but they are now negotiating with several Grand Rapids residents who are considering erecting a large brick garage building for them at once. Their initial contract calls for 125 cars, and in addition to this they will sell parts and accessories and conduct a service station. The new Ford truck just being introduced will be a factor in the success of the business.

Mr. Anderson, whose home was formerly at Abilene, Kansas, is a progressive, reliable and capable young man, who is recommended to the people of Grand Rapids. He has a large personal acquaintance in Stevens Point and his local friends look for him to "make good."

WILL UNIFY SCHOOLS

Bishop Rhode of Green Bay Catholic Diocese Announces Important Step For System

A definite plan by which it is hoped to materially increase the efficiency of the Catholic parochial schools of the Green Bay diocese is outlined in a letter from Bishop Paul P. Rhode, read in the various churches of the diocese Sunday. The letter was addressed to the parents of school children of the diocese.

The bishop, after dwelling in a general way upon the reopening of the schools and the value of religious instruction in them, pays a tribute to those who are supporting them and points out some of the things in which they are deficient. "I would indeed be wanting in a sense of justice," the bishop said, "did I fail to recognize the splendid results achieved for the honor of God, for the salvation of our young and for the good of our glorious country, in the schools which your faith and generosity have made possible, and I would no less be reckless in my pastoral duty, did I fail to do my share in making these schools what you desire them to be. Much has indeed been accomplished in the past, and I note with deep satisfaction, that we have many a school in the diocese today, which in all respects measures up to required standards. And yet there is much still to be done. We have at present no point of contact between our schools, we have no bond of union, no co-ordination, no uniformity, no general system, and no supervision. Each school stands separate, and though the Sisterhoods, each in its own sphere, are devotedly trying to do their very best with the means at hand, they still labor under the disadvantage of having to do their work single-handed, as it were, and lack those helps, and that encouragement, which comes from combined effort, from a definite and general directive, and from a uniformity of plan.

"For this reason, as a matter of plain duty to you and your little ones, I have determined to organize the schools of our diocese and have, in conjunction with our school board, and with the representatives of our teaching orders, taken steps toward the unification of our school system. As a preliminary measure, to secure a firm basis upon which to work, uniform textbooks have been adopted for the whole diocese; later on the order of studies, the hours to be devoted to separate branches, matters of discipline, methods of teaching, and in fine everything essential to the perfecting of our school system will receive due attention. A superintendent of schools in the person of the Rev. Peter J. Grossnick has already been appointed. Our Sisterhoods, recognizing the great advantages of this work for our schools, have entered upon it most willingly, and are according it their heartiest cooperation, proof of which can well be seen in the fact that two hundred of them have attended the institute organized recently for their benefit in Green Bay."

Addressing himself particularly to Catholics of the country districts, where children, on account of distance, cannot attend the parochial schools, Bishop Rhode calls attention to the boarding school or institute being maintained in Door county. This school is in charge of Rev. Martin Jaekels, Strurgeon Bay, Wis., Route 3.

The bishop closes with a blessing for the Sisters in the schools and their pupils.

COLLINS IN TRAINING

Paul F. Collins, son of Prof. and Mrs. J. V. Collins of this city, who was accepted for enlistment in the aviation corps of the United States army early in July, is now undergoing preliminary training at Champaign, Ill. There are 250 men taking the three months' course there, consisting of instructions in telegraphy, mechanical branches, map making, etc. From Champaign the student-aviators are sent to a regular aviation field for practical training. The United States is training hundreds of men for the aviation service while the manufacture of these most valuable implements of warfare is going on. It has been predicted that the allies will win the war by the great superiority in the air they will have when the United States is ready to throw her strength into the balance.

A TRAFFIC REGULATOR

Attorney Hal R. Martin, Former Stevens Pointer, Interested in Promising Invention

Simplified traffic regulation, with fewer accidents and fewer arrests, is the claim made for an automobile signal device which is being demonstrated in Wisconsin by a corporation in which Attorney Hal R. Martin of Edgerton, a former Stevens Pointer, is interested.

Mr. Martin, accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Earle, also of Edgerton, were in the city last Saturday, when the merits of the device, which is known as the Benson Speed Signal for Automobiles, were pointed out to city officials and others. They have been doing similar work in various other parts of the state, their object being to encourage legislation friendly to the plan of a compulsory automatic signal system for automobiles.

The Benson invention consists of an aluminum frame, in which is inserted a glass number plate and six colored lights. It also includes a speedometer, which is attached to the dash board in the usual way, and a "bumper" in front. When the car thus equipped attains a speed of 10 miles an hour a distinctive electric light begins to burn and for each five miles up to thirty-five there is a different light signal. For thirty-five miles and above, two red lights, indicating danger, are provided. As the lights flash on in front and rear, plainly visible to traffic police, pedestrians and other users of the streets, smaller ones of the same color on the speedometer tell the driver what his speed is. In case the front of the car strikes an obstacle of 100 pounds or more, an electric connection with the bumper locks the speedometer at the speed at which the car was going, so that responsibility for accidents can be placed.

The Wisconsin corporation handling the invention in this state is meeting with great encouragement and hopes to obtain the desired legislation at the next meeting of the legislature, two years hence. Similar work is being done in other states. Drivers of automobiles, public officials and the public generally look upon the device as a safeguard against traffic accidents. It is pointed out that while 90 percent of the automobile drivers are careful, they and the general public must suffer for the carelessness of the other 10 percent, who, because of the great increase in the number of motor vehicles, are a growing menace to public safety.

Wisconsin Loyalty Petition

To The Congress of The United States:—

We, the undersigned citizens of the State of Wisconsin, are grieved and humiliated by the fact that deliberate and concerted efforts are being made, by petitions and other instrumentalities, to represent this patriotic commonwealth to the congress of the United States as disloyal to the American Government in its hour of peril and need. We take this means to repudiate, in the name of Wisconsin, every disloyal word and deed calculated to misrepresent her and her people, to discourage the government in its efforts to win the war, to give aid and encouragement to the Imperial German Government, and thereby to increase the hardships and hazards of the Wisconsin soldiers who have gone or are going forth to give battle in defense of the nation and of democracy. We reiterate that faith in America, Her institutions and ideals, for which the Wisconsin fathers fought in 1861, declare our conviction that in the present war America is fighting for the preservation of the most sacred and vital principles upon which American institutions and freedom are founded, express our confidence in the National Administration, and pledge our whole hearted support to the Government of the United States.

The navy wants cooks. Perhaps to cook the "German goose."

In stead of aspiring to the presidency, Senator LaFollette should apply for a post on Emperor William's staff. It is certain he wouldn't be missed here and he'd surely be received with open arms by the imperial German government.

"Conscientious objectors" are not being exempted from military service. They revolt at the thought of intentionally killing their fellow men, but they're willing to let somebody do it in their stead. Perhaps if they had to fight in self protection, as the nation must, their consciences wouldn't trouble them so much.

The Milwaukee Journal, in the publication of the story of German ambition, treachery and intrigue by James W. Gerard, former American ambassador at Berlin, is doing a patriotic service for the nation and the state. Mr. Gerard's exposures have caused a sensation in this country and abroad. They strike at the heart of Prussianism and justify conclusively the entry of the United States in the war. Every American should read this series, which is offered at little expense by the Milwaukee Journal, as announced in an advertisement in this issue of The Gazette.

In an editorial entitled "The Sheep and the Goats," the Milwaukee Journal comments as follows on the anti-American activities of certain Wisconsin residents:

Wisconsin will know just where she stands when she can separate the sheep from the goats.

The process has been more or less difficult. But suddenly those who are not supporting America's cause have unwittingly made it easy.

Petitions to indorse Senator LaFollette's course in regard to the war are being circulated in the state. It is intended to send these petitions to the United States senate.

These petitions, once they are submitted to the United States senate, will be a public record, will be public property.

The names of the petitioners should be printed in their city and county newspapers, as soon as possible after the petitions are presented in the senate. They should be published again, to refresh the recollections of men and women, at the end of the war.

Copies of the petitions, moreover, should be preserved in the archives of the State Historical society at Madison.

We believe that the hundreds of loyal newspapers of Wisconsin will welcome this opportunity to draw clearly the line between two kinds of citizens.

President Wilson's reply to the peace proposal of Pope Benedict, which was transmitted to his holiness last week, is without question the most powerfully worded state note the war has brought out. In language that gives expression to the president's high regard for the pope's sincerity of purpose and high motives, the document is full of compassion for the German people, enthralled beneath the heel of a military despotism that knows no ends but its own.

The time is not ripe, the President points out, for the opening of peace negotiations when the enemy is only "balked" and not defeated; neither is there any prospect of effecting a lasting peace through negotiations with a government that has repudiated every pledge and has slaughtered women and children and ruthlessly overrun neutral territory to satisfy its lust for power. The note shows plainly the determination of America and its allies to consider no peace until the German people are masters of their own house and until there is a positive guarantee that more than a "mere cessation of arms" is possible.

Peace, when it comes, must be an enduring peace and one that will prevent for all time a repetition of the horrible catastrophes that have beset the world since August, 1914. Without such a peace, all the blood and treasure that has been expended in this great war will have been in vain. Victory for the German cause would mean defeat for the German people as well as the people of the great democratic nations of the world aligned against Prussianism. But such a victory is impossible of attainment; Germany, sooner or later, must be forced to sue for peace. The door is open to the German people and only the overthrow of the Prussian ruling house, either from within or without, will save the nation from further bloodshed and suffering.

The president's note is as timely as

While the pope's effort to restore peace is apparently a failure, so far as any immediate steps by the belligerents in that direction are concerned, the exchange of views among the two groups of allies and their diplomatic statements on the question of war aims, may form a basis on which future negotiations may rest. It is possible that the pope's note will materially hasten the war's end and the establishment of a permanent peace.

The Wisconsin Loyalty Legion, an organization whose executive committee consists of some of the state's best known men, including A. W. Sanborn of Ashland, a former resident of Stevens Point, has begun a movement to repudiate the charges that Wisconsin is disloyal and particularly to counteract the evil results of Senator LaFollette's attitude on the war. Petitions condemning "every disloyal word and deed calculated to misrepresent her (Wisconsin) and her people" are being circulated in every part of the state and every loyal citizen who believes in his government and the lofty principles it is upholding in this war, is invited to put himself on record.

The objects of the petitions are stated as follows in an announcement issued by the executive committee of the Wisconsin Loyalty Legion:

"An insidious but persistent effort is being made by enemies of America, and citizens whose Americanism does not rise above unworthy motives, to foment dissatisfaction and disloyalty in the State of Wisconsin, in order to embarrass the government of the United States, bring the war into disrepute, and to build up private and political interests upon the ruins of our national honor and the security of government by the people. To create dissension, unrest and disloyalty is the first step; to turn these to the advantage of those who are busy inspiring them, be they agents and sympathizers of the German Imperial Government, or merely selfish and dangerous individuals, is the second step. The first purpose has already made some progress, the second is just now taking form in such manner as to benefit equally the German Autocracy, and individuals who would sell the people's birthright. In the sacred and abused name of peace, which, with honor and freedom, we will revere, and under the guise of economic justice so phrased as plausibly to exalt personal advantage above national necessity, and to appeal to every instinct for personal comfort and to every vulnerable emotion, petitions are being circulated endorsing the insidiously subversive teachings of un-American activities by which Senator Robert M. LaFollette has misrepresented the patriotic people of America.

"For these petitions is sought the signature of every citizen of Wisconsin who, by the urge of blood ties, by appeal to love of ease and profit, by blind devotion to the abstract idea of peace, and through every possible phase of interested motive or lack of understanding, can be inveigled into placing his hand to a document which the German Emperor would gladly sign. That thousands, fooled or faithless, will sign these petitions, may be fully expected, and unless there shall go forth to Washington from the loyal sons and daughters of Wisconsin, a vigorous and emphatic repudiation of these libelous messages of veiled sedition, this great American state will come into contempt and disrepute, not only in America, but wherever democracy prevails and humanity is exalted. Only by counter-petitions, vigorous, fully couched and rapidly circulated, can the fair name of Wisconsin be safe."

A petition is printed in another part of this paper. Read it, then sign and mail to the Legion's headquarters at Milwaukee.

NINE MEN SELECTED FOR NATIONAL ARMY

First Group of Portage County Registrants Named By Exemption Board—Go Saturday

The Honor Men

Harold Edward Ule
William Daniel O'Connell
Romulus Carl Berens
Park Allen
Ernest August Samsow
Walter George Butler
Irvin Foster Holeman
Felix Waldoch
Floyd Scott

Portage county is ready to supply the first 5% of her quota for the new national army.

The county board of exemption, at a meeting Monday evening, selected from a list of 75 names which had been certified back by the district board, the first nine men who will go from Portage county to Camp Grant at Rockford, Ill. The nine honor men, all of whom had expressed a desire to go in the first contingent, are all residents of Stevens Point except Felix Waldoch of Dewey and Floyd Scott of Plover. Harold Ule, who was the first Portage county man certified for service in the new army, has been designated to take charge of the first group in the journey to the Illinois camp. Steve Ramczak of this city has been named alternate and will go to camp next Saturday in case of inability or failure of one of the others to report.

The men will leave Stevens Point at 2:05 o'clock Saturday morning, September 8, on the Soo line. They will reach Burlington at 7:15 o'clock the same morning and at 9:42 will leave that city on the Milwaukee road for Rockford, where they will arrive at 12:14 p. m.

President Wilson, in his message at Washington Monday, when he welcomed into the nation's service the soldiers of the new national army, reflected the sentiment of the nation in the following words:

"You are undertaking a great duty. The heart of the whole country is with you. Everything that you do will be watched with the deepest interest and with the deepest solicitude not only by those who are near and dear to you, but by the whole nation besides. For this great war draws us all together, makes us all comrades and brothers, as all true Americans felt themselves to be when we first made good our national independence. The eyes of all the world will be upon you, because you are in some special sense the soldiers of freedom. Let it be your pride, therefore, to show all men everywhere not only what good soldiers you are, but what good men you are, keeping yourselves fit and straight in everything and pure and clean through and through. Let us set for ourselves a standard so high that it will be a glory to live up to it and then let us live up to it and add a new laurel to the crown of America. My affectionate confidence goes with you in every battle and every test. God keep and guide you!"

Secretary of War Baker supplemented the president's cheering message with some practical advice to the men who are under orders to present themselves for military service, as to what they should wear and what toilet articles they should carry with them.

Cleanliness was the first consideration pressed on the men awaiting mobilization.

"Before reporting to the local board," the war department instructions said, "the hair should be cut short, the body thoroughly bathed, and clean underwear put on. The finger and toe nails should be cut short."

If collars and shirts and good clothes are worn by the men when mobilizing for transportation to the training camps, these articles will be required to be sent back home after reaching camp.

"There is no objection to taking collars and shirts for wear on the journey," the instructions explained, "but there will be no use for these articles after arriving at the mobilization camps."

"Civilian clothes will not be retained after arrival at mobilization camps. If it is not desired to make arrangements for returning clothing, it is better to appear in civilian clothing which it is not worth keeping."

Here are the things the national army man is requested to take with him when he leaves his home for camp:

Soap, shaving outfit, comb and brush, toothbrush and tooth powder, two bath towels, three hand towels, and six handkerchiefs. Two changes of underwear may be taken if desired.

Since suit cases and handbags will not be allowed for permanent use at the mobilization camp, the men are urged to carry their toilet articles with them in bundles. They are particularly cautioned that they will not be allowed to take bedding or changes of outer clothing with them.

Recruits are advised to heed sanitary orders which will be issued at the camps. These are designed to prevent the development and spread of disease.

"It is of the highest importance that every recruit from the outset should obey implicitly these orders, which are for the protection of his own health and the health of his comrades," the instructions point out. The close cropped head and short nails are the first of these health injunctions, which are explained as part of the government's purpose to "preserve the health of troops at the point of mobilization by military methods."

W. C. T. U. MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Anna Gordon Union at the home of Mrs. O. Parmeter, 524 Church street, Friday afternoon. A full attendance is desired because of the election of delegates to the state convention.

ROSHOLT ON THE MAP

Village Sends Big Exhibit To Stevens Point Fair By Auto Train Monday Evening

That off to Rosholt!

That thriving little village in the northeastern part of the county is giving a lesson in community co-operation and community advertising at the Stevens Point fair this week that is deserving of public recognition. Two big show tents have been pitched on the grounds for the accommodation of the exhibits from Rosholt and in them the visitor to the fair will find much to educate and interest.

One of the tents holds an exhibit by the Rosholt Creamery Co., and the Alban & New Hope Cow Testing association. The creamery company exhibit includes dairy utensils, cooling tanks, butter tubs and many other articles necessary in the making of butter. The cow testing association, which has done much to further the movement for better dairy cows in the county, has on display the association's leading cow, a Guernsey owned by Ed. Erickson. The exhibit of the Rosholt calf club, a division of the Portage county Junior Club, has the other tent, outside of which is a sign bearing the club's motto, "Better Calves Make Better Cows."

The Rosholt exhibits were brought to the city Monday evening in an automobile train, consisting of the Copps Co.'s big Jeffrey quad truck, the Breitenstein-Tozier Co.'s International truck, and two trailers owned by the county. A silo, 8 feet in diameter and 16 feet high, six calves belonging to members of the calf club, a cow owned by Anton Brekke, potatoes, some 10-foot corn, cattle feed and the various other exhibits mentioned in the foregoing, were transported.

Anton Brekke, chairman of Alban, M. E. Smith, the cow tester, County Agent Coyner, Ed. Erickson, Charles Laske and Arlie Gullikson were in charge of the train, which was paraded through Main street in Stevens Point before entering the fair grounds.

CORNWALL IS LIEUTENANT

Dr. Cornwall is now a first lieutenant in the dental corps of the United States army, having received this appointment after being commissioned a second lieutenant at the conclusion of the first officers' training school at Fort Sheridan, which he attended. He was not satisfied with the second lieutenantcy, so took an examination, as a result of which he was given the higher rank. Dr. Cornwall expects to leave for France in the immediate future.

LIBERTY LOAN DELAYED

Work of Engraving Bonds Too Great To Permit of Campaign Beginning September 1

It was generally understood that the definitive Liberty Loan Bonds would be ready for delivery about Sept. 1. There will be some further delay for the reason that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington, to which was assigned the task of engraving and printing the $2,000,000,000 3 1/2% Liberty Loan, has found it is unequal to the task of completing the work in the required time and has called upon the bank note companies throughout the country for such assistance as they can give.

The size of the contract is considered enormous for that class of work and it may be judged by the bids of the several competing companies, which were as follows: American Bank Note Co. New York City, $400,000 or 20 cents per bond; Republic Bank Note Co., New York City and Pittsburgh, $300,000 or 15 cents per bond, and the Hamilton Bank Note Co. Brooklyn, N. Y., $280,000, or 14 cents per bond. The bids were based on the finishing of two million bonds which the specifications stated was the minimum quantity of work to be done.

According to specifications the work is supposed to be completed not later than Sept. 30, which is all but an impossible feat. The entire capacity of the three bank note companies above mentioned, will be required to handle the work.

FINE HOME DESTROYED
Modern Residence of Oscar P. Gee In Linwood Struck By Lightning And Burned Down

The home of Oscar P. Gee, one of the Stevens Point letter carriers, in the town of Linwood, on rural route No. 4 out of this city, was completely destroyed by fire after being struck by a bolt of lightning at 4:45 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Gee discovered the danger immediately after the bolt struck and assisted his wife and children to safety. In a short period of time the entire roof was ablaze, making all attempts to extinguish the flames useless. Neighbors gathered at the scene and assisted in saving what furniture and other household goods could be moved.

The house, which was built about a year and a half ago, was insured for $3,000 and is a complete loss. The household goods were insured for $1,500. All the insurance was in the Fidelity Phoenix Co., for which F. D. Reynolds of this city is district agent.

The residence was 2 1/2 stories in height, with full basement, 26x28 feet in size and contained nine rooms. It was completely modern. Besides the household goods that burned with it, much of the family's clothing was consumed.

Mr. Gee expects to rebuild at once, although the new building will probably be smaller than the burned structure.

Be Careful and Systematic

People who pay their bills by check get a reputation for being careful and systematic in their business dealings. Such a reputation means much in the establishment of credit. It costs no more to pay your money out by check than it does to use the hard cash, and you have the advantage of having it in a place that is absolutely safe.

To have Money in the Bank is of itself a Valuable Asset in the Establishment of Credit. And it is possibly to practically everyone without one cent of cost. It takes no more money to do business by the checking method than it does by the cash-in-hand method.

We invite you to open a checking account with us. We will help you to make your account a real convenience.

PRaise for American Base Hospital Unit

Red Cross Bulletin Makes References To Organizations Including Stevens Pointers

Interesting references to the base hospital units in which two Stevens Point, young men, E. G. Bach and Dr. Lyman A. Copps, will serve in France, are printed in the Base Hospital number of an American Red Cross bulletin issued by the Chicago chapter recently.

"The civilian personnel of each base hospital presents an array of men who have without exception been selected with exceptional care," the bulletin says. "Most of them are college men, with special training of some kind, especially qualifying them to take charge of a certain kind of work in the complex life of the hospital to which he is destined."

The following refers to Unit No. 13, of which Mr. Bach, who is a member of the Hannon-Bach Co., pharmacists, of this city, is a member:

"To illustrate the character of the men making up this civilian personnel, in Dr. Lewis' unit some forty or fifty men are from the University of Chicago, others from Beloit and other colleges, where they have had laboratory experience along chemical and bacteriological lines, seven are pharmacists, three expert photographers, one a high-grade anatomical artist, ten have had nursing experience in hospitals, thirteen are able to play musical instruments well in addition to their other qualifications—and the musician is much needed about a base hospital for entertainment purposes. To continue: over half the men in Dr. Lewis' unit can drive cars, some eleven are qualified in bookkeeping and accountancy, thirteen have had experience in carpentry work, over fifty have had clerical experience, fifteen can cook—and some of these have given up well-paying professions and have taken positions in Chicago restaurants to practice cooking during the waiting time, so as to be better able to serve the unit. Several others have had varied mechanical and electrical experience; some are plumbers and, last but not least, there are two skilled X-ray operators aside from the X-ray staff. The above is a fair illustration of the general character of the civilian personnel of the different base hospitals. Besides those mentioned, many others have been recruited from various parts of the city, where they have been receiving first aid instructions under the auspices of the Red Cross for some time."

Of Unit No. 12, which Dr. Copps recently joined, the bulletin says: "Dr. Besley's unit, which has been in service about three months at the French front, found themselves, shortly after arrival, unable to cope with the situation which presented itself of having an equipment for 500 beds only placed in a hospital with requirements for 2,000 beds. This meant that the entire working force, medical and civilian, would be equal to but one-fourth of the gigantic task unexpectedly thrust upon them. As an example, the four civilians whose duty it was to make up and change the 500 beds, to care for the linen, etc., found themselves swamped with the additional number which they had to care for daily. Besides, every article of linen had to be taken five miles in trucks, in order to make the change from soiled to clean! A recent letter written by a member of the medical staff to Mrs. Besley said: 'Major Besley has been operating all night. It is eleven o'clock in the morning, and he is still operating.' Other letters state that these heroic surgeons, in the vain endeavor to care properly for the appalling stream of wounded and dying men which hourly are poured upon their operating tables, would work without rest or food from the earliest hours of the morning, when the victims began to come in, until as many hours had elapsed as were sufficient to cause them to drop at their posts from exhaustion."

"Dr. Besley finally cabled to the Chicago chapter to supply his unit with nine additional doctors, forty-seven civilians and twenty-five nurses. These Mrs. Besley has been recruiting for the past fortnight. All are now ready to start on their way to France, which it is expected they will do in a few days."

"Dr. Besley's hospital is situated two and a half miles from the ocean in a large camp now under canvas. The civilians have all of their little tents in one locality and the nurses have temporary huts. The staff have only conical tents without sides. It is expected, however, that huts will be constructed by the British government by winter. An English force formerly occupied this hospital, having 2,000 beds. When the wind is in the right direction, Dr. Besley and his men can hear the roar of the guns at the firing line."

"They went to this location June 14. On June 16 convoys began coming in, bringing patients directly from the field. These men had only had field dressing. Every night, at midnight, these convoys have come in. Dr. Besley writes that it is most dramatic when the convoys arrive with their grisly load. The ambulances are driven mostly by English and Canadian women, who have been driving since the beginning of the war. Each ambulance carries four patients."

"A recent letter from Dr. Besley says: 'I am sitting outside the tent writing by good daylight, and yet the clock says 9 p. m. I have been very hot for two days. I have found that I must assume responsibility for all operations done; not that I do them all, but I must pass judgment. Our equipment is inadequate, and I have sent an S. O. S. call to the Chicago chapter. Among the things needed are X-ray apparatus and sweets, especially sweet chocolate.'"

"Allied officers visit the camp every day, and praise highly the work of our men. The English Tommy is certainly a great character. He never complains, no matter what happens to him, and the nurses find it difficult to get him to say what he really means. He always does it and conveys his meaning in a way that is both direct and indirect. He is a very interesting character."

"The British Red Cross chapter, which is now in the process of being organized, is expected to be in operation in a few days. The British Red Cross chapter, which is now in the process of being organized, is expected to be in operation in a few days."

BRITISH BLOOD IS CALLING

"British blood is calling British blood."

This poster is appearing in this city. Britons and Canadians living in the United States now have a first hand opportunity to enlist with their own forces and help their brothers in the "Big Push" of the Hun back toward the Rhine.

A. L. Smolenski, branch chairman of the Military Training Camps association here, has all the data needed and wants to make up a contingent to send forward at an early date. British and Canadian subjects and those who have only taken out first citizenship papers are heading their country's call and enlisting by scores all over the United States. They are not subject to the draft, but they are keeping the volunteer record of their native land bright.

Canada volunteered to the extent of 400,000 and England several millions. The same proportion is rapidly approaching among the 500,000 Britons and Canadians in the United States. Our "northern neighbor" has sent all the men she can get and has ample training facilities and veteran instructors to put the recruit on the battle field well-trained.

ACID BURNS FACE

Lester Newton, who is employed at the Hannon-Bach pharmacy, suffered burns last Wednesday when carbolic acid from a bottle from which the cork had popped out splattered over his face. M. J. Hannon was standing beside young Newton holding the bottle when the accident occurred. Remedies were immediately administered and later Newton was taken to the hospital, where it was found that his burns were not serious. He left the hospital the following day and is again back at work.

CHANGE HEATING PLANS

Plans to heat Nelson Hall, the new Normal dormitory, from the central heating plant of the school, have been abandoned and the heating system installed in the dormitory when it was built will be used. It is desired to have high pressure steam available for the kitchen in the dormitory, and to provide this some additional equipment will be necessary, to cost about $500. This is only about a quarter as much as the estimated cost of the proposed pipe line and will be fully as satisfactory. The dormitory has accommodations for 102 women and every room has been spoken for. A cafeteria restaurant will be conducted in the basement and will be open to those who have rooms and a limited number of others. There is still considerable work to be done in the building before it is completely ready for occupancy. The grounds will also be beautified.

BETTER FARMING-BETTER BUSINESS-BETTER LIVING

FATTENING PIGS

Finish Them With the Self-Feeder and Save Grain—Fat Rapidly

There is an advantage in skipping the pig when it comes time to fatten him, the United States Department of Agriculture points out. During the growing period of his life pastures with little grain were in order, for scale and constitution were the main objects to be obtained. The last few weeks before fattening the idea is to lay on a good covering of fat, to increase the proportion of high-priced lard, and to add tenderness and palatability to the meat. A fat hog sells to much better advantage on the market for these very reasons.

To add this fat rapidly and most economically, we must feed an abundance of grain. The self-feeder is simply a device to keep before the pig a constant supply of feed, in order that they may eat of such feeds in such quantities as they desire.

A brief resume of results obtained by experiments with over 275 hogs, part of them self-fed and the balance hand fed in the best possible manner, shows:

First, that in comparison with the hand fed pigs the self-fed pigs ate grain 19 per cent more rapidly;

Second, that they gained weight 28 per cent more rapidly;

And last, that they consumed only 92 per cent as much grain in gaining 100 pounds.

This shows three very definite advantages in the use of the self-feeder. Pigs fed in this manner will eat more grain per day than under any other method of feeding. This maximum consumption is not wasteful of grain; in fact it saves grain, for an increase of 19 per cent in the rate of eating caused an increase of 28 per cent in the rate of gaining. The object in feeding is to put on fat as rapidly and with as little grain as possible. A method which will increase the rate of gaining 28 per cent and at the same time decrease by 8 per cent the grain required to produce a unit of gain is certainly worthy of consideration.

Fill part of the self-feeder with corn or similar carbonaceous feed and the other part with protein supplement; also take care to see that it is kept filled. Induce well-grown shoats to eat when and what they choose, and save grain, save labor, and get your hogs to market at the earliest possible date.

SOY BEANS FOR GRAIN

Department of Agriculture To Issue Bulletin on New Agricultural Industry

For the information of farmers who are beginning to grow soy beans for grain rather than for hay, and who are unfamiliar with the handling of the plants under the former conditions, the United States Department of Agriculture will shortly publish Farmers' Bulletin, "Harvesting Soy Beans for Seed." The demand for these seeds for use in the production of oil, feed cake, and other bean products is rapidly increasing and the farmers of the United States are preparing to meet this demand.

The character of growth, the uniform maturing habits, and the heavy seed yields of the soy beans, says the bulletin, contribute to the ease of harvesting and recommend the plants for seed production. The many disadvantages which attend the harvesting of cowpeas for seed are not common to the soy bean. When grown for grain alone the shattering of the pods of the soy bean is a serious fault and inexperienced growers are likely to sustain a heavy loss of seed through lack of knowledge and improper handling of the soy-bean plant. The shattering varies with the varieties of the bean. It is well, however, with most varieties to give special attention as maturity approaches to prevent serious losses from this cause.

Time of Harvesting

In general, the best time to harvest, except where special bean harvesters are used, is when about three-fourths of the leaves have fallen and most of the pods have turned color. If cut at an earlier stage the plants are difficult to cure properly, and the yield will be lessened materially on account of the immature grain. On the other hand, if the plants are allowed to become too ripe the pods will shatter before being cut, and much seed will be lost. When special harvesters are used to gather the seed, the plants must reach full maturity to obtain the best results.

Methods of Harvesting

Various methods of harvesting the crop are in use in different sections where the soy bean is grown largely for seed productions. The crop may be cut with ordinary mowing machines, self-rake reapers, self binders, or even with scythes, corn knives, or sickles. The beans also may be harvested with a special bean harvester which gathers the grain from the standing plants.

When the plants are cut before maturity they are cured in shocks and allowed to remain in the field until a convenient time for thrashing. If thoroughly dry they may be housed and thrashed later.

Thrashing

Thrashing may be done with an ordinary grain separator, but if this machine is used it must be altered somewhat to prevent the cracking of the beans. In some cases a special set of thin concaves is used for thrashing beans and in other instances some of the concaves are removed. Good judgment on the part of the thrasher will enable him to adjust the ordinary separator so that the beans may be thrashed with little splitting. Special pea and bean separators are on the market and their use may be advisable when large acreages of the beans are to be handled. If thoroughly dry, soy beans can be thrashed with a flail. If only a small acreage is to be thrashed—an acre or so—this method is practicable and economical. In a few sections a corn shredder has been used to advantage in thrashing beans. If properly cured and dried out, the beans shell out very readily with such a machine.

The straw obtained from thrashing soy beans for seed is a valuable feed for all kinds of stock. In many sections the straw is baled at the time of thrashing and sold to livestock, dairymen, and stock feeders.

Storage of Seed

As soy-bean seed spoils rather easily if not properly handled, care should be exercised in curing and storing. After the beans are thrashed they should be watched carefully to avoid heating and molding. When thoroughly dry there is no such danger. The best plan, perhaps, is to spread the seeds out on a floor, immediately after thrashing, and shovel them over from time to time until they are thoroughly dry. After this they may be safely put into sacks or bins. The storeroom should be dry and with a free circulation of air. Soy-bean seed loses its viability rather rapidly, and it is not safe to hold seed for planting purposes more than two seasons. The seeds of the soy bean, unlike those of the cow-pea, are rarely attacked by weevils or other grain insects.

J. B. Marshall, 302 Monroe St., Stevens Point, says: "A few years ago I had trouble from a dull pain across my back and I think it was brought on by the strain from lifting. The trouble caused me so much annoyance that I wanted to get rid of it. Knowing that one of my neighbors recommended Doan's Kidney Pills highly, I tried them. They relieved me quickly and soon rid me of the pain. Doan's Kidney Pills went right to the seat of the trouble and strengthened my kidneys and I can say that they are all they are claimed to be."

RUNNING THE SCHOOLS

Digest of Laws Passed By Recent Legislature Relating To Educational Institutions

The Wisconsin legislature of 1917 passed many laws relating to the operation of public, parochial and private schools of the state. School officials, teachers and the public generally will consequently be interested in the following summary of laws of this description:

Chapter 63 provides that any person having charge of a public, private, or parochial school, high school or college, maintained in a building more than one story in height shall at least once each month and without previous warning conduct an orderly and rapid fire drill such as would be necessary in case of fire.

Chapter 97 authorizes all teachers to send home immediately, without notice to the parent, children who are, because of uncleanness or the presence of vermin, unfit for the school. Notice must also be sent to the school clerk.

Chapter 157 amends section 4301 of the statutes and provides that whenever any school district having a school house of one room only shall enroll and have in attendance for a period of more than twenty days any one school term, sixty or more pupils, it shall be the duty of the electors at the following annual meeting to authorize the district board to make provision for additional room and for an additional teacher. Failure to comply with the above command will cause the district to forfeit its right to the share in the apportionment of the seven-tenths mill tax.

Chapter 284 fixes the minimum salary of a teacher at $45 per month for at least eight months. A district failing to pay this sum and maintain school for this term forfeits its right to share in any apportionment of the school money. School officers must comply with this statute, and if contracts have already been made for the coming year at less than $45, they must be changed.

Chapter 317 amends sections 506g, 506h, and 506i and makes the special state aid of $50 to country schools of the first class permanent instead of limiting it to three years.

Chapter 344 amends section 560g (the 2-4-9 law) and provides that the special state aid shall after this be paid to teachers in one room country schools only and not to teachers in state graded and in high schools as was the case under the old law.

Chapter 441 provides that in districts where school has been suspended by the vote of the electors transportation is compulsory for all persons between the ages of six and sixteen who reside more than a mile from the nearest school. In case the electors fail or refuse to provide transportation for children living more than two miles from the nearest school the parent or guardian may transport such children and shall be paid by the district in which he resides at the rate of twenty cents per day for each child. State aid is allowed to the district in such case. This does not apply to consolidated districts in which all the schools have been suspended. Transportation in consolidated districts is compulsory only for children between the ages of six and sixteen.

Any person other than a parent or guardian of the children to be transported, entering into contract to provide transportation, must give a bond of $300.

State aid for transportation is as follows: For pupils transported more than two miles and not more than three miles, ten cents per day per pupil; over three miles and not more than four, fifteen cents per day per pupil; over four miles, twenty cents per day per pupil. No state aid is allowed for pupils transported two miles or less.

In case pupils reside more than four miles from the nearest school the school board may in their discretion provide board and lodging in lieu of transportation at some suitable place not more than one mile from the school. The maximum amount which each district may pay for such board is $2.75 per school week. State aid at the rate of twenty cents per day is allowed in such cases, the same as for transportation over four miles.

In other than consolidated districts transportation must be provided for at least six months and the pupil must attend at least five months while being transported in order to entitle the district to state aid.

In case all the schools in the district are suspended, tuition paid for all pupils, the transportation provided for the entire year for all pupils residing more than one mile from the nearest school, state aid is granted equal to the amount expended for tuition and transportation not to exceed $150. No district receiving special state aid under this provision is entitled to receive special state aid for transportation under the case cited above.

Chapter 285 of the truancy law provides that all children between the ages of nine and fourteen residing between two and three miles from the nearest school, shall attend school not less than sixty days each term.

KEEP MAINTENANCE FUND

The total cost of improving the grave of Isaac Ferris, old river pilot, on the west bank of the Wisconsin near the dam of the Whiting-Plover Paper Co., was $94.75. After paying all bills there was a balance of $5, which has been deposited in a local bank for the maintenance of the grave. P. H. Casbin, who conceived the idea of preserving the grave and was in charge of the work, will later give out a statement of funds collected and expended.

NEED WRITTEN PERMITS

Boys under eighteen are forbidden under the new law to frequent pool halls and bowling alleys.

Stevens Point parents of boys under the age of eighteen years and the owners of billiard, pool and pigeon tables and bowling alleys who conduct these sources of amusement for profit may be interested in knowing that Chapter 118, Laws of 1917, provides a penalty of imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 10 days or a fine not exceeding $25.00 for any owner or keeper of the games named who permits any minor under 18 years of age to play without a written consent or permit from the parent or guardian of such minor.

Every owner or operator of the above named amusement places after due notice has been given or informed of this law are expected to live up to these requirements or suffer the consequences. I am satisfied it would be a perceptible and gratifying falling off in the number of young boys who make a practice of frequenting the local pool and billiard halls.
JOHN S. HOFSSOOS,
Chief of Police.

Doctors Advise Extreme Care In The Selection Of Summer Drinks

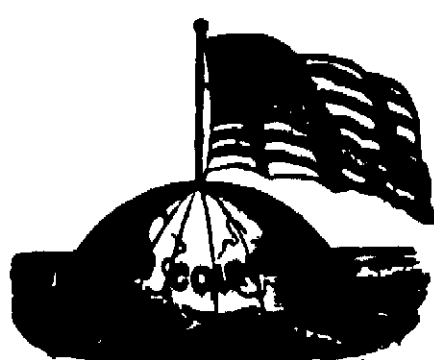

If there is one season of the year when the human machinery is exposed to more dietetic outrages than in any other, it is mid-summer. The sultry days, the scorching sun and the happy informal parties all suggest a cooling, refreshing and thirst-quenching drink. As a direct result, the summer season is very often characterized by "summer complaint," "ptomaine poisoning" and numerous other illnesses.

Do not mar the pleasures of summer for yourself and your friends by indiscreetly drinking quantities of questionable drinks. Beware of acids and artificial soft drinks. Wherever you go, call for CAMEO, the Apex soft drink.

CAMEO is a non-intoxicating malt extract, made from pure grain properties and spring water. No purer, safer or saner summer drink has ever been offered the American people. CAMEO is sold wherever soft drinks are sold. Two sizes, 7 oz. individual service bottles and 12 oz. family pints. Sold only in brown bottles—light proof—germ proof.

The food destroyed in America by insects and small rodents would feed the people of Belgium. Birds are the natural enemies of these pests. Our schools opened September fourth and there is every prospect of a successful year. Many pupils from the rural schools have expressed a desire to attend the High school and everything indicates a large attendance in the grades. The teachers are: Prof. Hansen of Iola, Miss Quinn, assistant, Stevens Point, Miss Taylor of Westfield, Mrs. Johnson of Amherst, Miss Van Cleave of Suring, Miss Kelly of Stevens Point, Miss Ruby of Oshkosh. The last five mentioned taught here last year and were re-engaged, which speaks very highly of their ability as teachers.

The annual Portage County fair, which opened last Tuesday and closed on Friday, had the largest attendance of any fair ever held here. The attendance on the first day was about 4,000; 2nd day about 2,500; 3rd day, 3,200, and the last day about 1,800. Floral hall and vegetable departments were about on an average with former years. The stock exhibit was double that of former years and when held around the track it made a procession nearly one-half mile in length. The weather was ideal, 4 sunshiny days.

During a severe electrical storm, which passed over this section Saturday morning at about 3 o'clock, two barns near Amherst were struck by lightning. The barn of the Knute Sannes farm, about 4 miles east of Amherst, was struck and entirely burned down. It contained 100 tons of hay and an automobile belonging to Wm. Oelhaven of Tomahawk. Fortunately the stock was all out. The barn was 40x100 and an addition was being erected, which was 30x50. The loss on barn and contents was figured at $7,000, insured in the Scandinavia Town Insurance Co. for $2,700. Mr. Sannes will rebuild. Mr. Oelhaven's car was insured at $1,600. The barn on the farm owned by Mrs. Peter Olson was also struck by lightning Saturday morning, and was completely destroyed. The barn was insured in the New Hope Co. the loss being $1,500. Insurance received was $1,385. The loss of hay and grain, belonging to her son, H. N. Olson, who works the place, was $1,000, of which $900 was paid. The barn had a metal roof. Strange to say a barn on the same farm was struck by lightning and burned Sept. 5th, 1914. This barn at the time it was struck had six lightning rods on it.

Gerard's Exposure

The Whole Amazing Story of German Ambition, Treachery & Intrigue Laid Bare

It is former Ambassador Gerard's own story of Germany at war—and her plans against America—the first recital of what actually happened there before the United States entered the Conflict. Right up until the time war was declared Mr. Gerard was at court, where he learned of plots and intrigues, and he will tell all to a spell-bound America.

It exposes the unscrupulous intrigue of the Prussian cliques—intrigue that has aimed to enmesh America. It is replete with startling incidents—humorous, dramatic, tragic—and moves with the quick action of a play.

"My Four Years in Germany" Starts Sunday, September 16, in THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

"My Four Years in Germany" conveys to the American people a thorough understanding of conditions that so far they have only suspected. It is not a book of propaganda. Mr. Gerard does not seek to persuade nor to argue—he simply states the facts, many of them facts hitherto sealed in secret archives—and leaves Americans draw their own conclusions. No other item of news, no other series of articles, since the war began, can approach this great series in its absorbing interest, its sensational disclosures, its historical importance. It is written in Mr. Gerard's own forceful, vigorous style, and runs full book length of about 80,000 words.

The Milwaukee Journal has contracted for and secured the exclusive rights for publication in Wisconsin of "My Four Years in Germany." It will be printed in generous installments, daily and Sunday, for about six weeks, beginning Sunday, September 16th. The first installment will contain in facsimile the suppressed telegrams of Kaiser William sent to President Wilson.

If you would learn why we are at war send $1 for a two months' subscription to The Milwaukee Journal. You'll not regret it!

THE BEST FAIR YET

Forty-eighth Annual Portage County Fair at Amherst Proves

Big Success

For the first time in many years, perfect weather prevailed during the 1917 week of the Portage county fair at Amherst and in consequence record crowds were present on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. It is estimated that nearly two hundred Stevens Pointers went there by automobile and train on Wednesday, while there was a fair sprinkling of people from this city on each of the two following days.

This season's exhibit of live stock was the best ever shown, nearly all the big breeders of thoroughbred cattle in that vicinity bringing in good portions of their herds. Two immense canvas tents were erected especially for this feature of the exhibit and gave opportunity to display the handsome animals to advantage. The Portage county farm, of which H. J. Kankrud is superintendent, made a fine showing of Holsteins and carried off three blue ribbons and five red ones. The head of this herd was also awarded the championship in his class by a close margin against strong competition.

L. E. Gordon, Jr., of Nelsonville brought down a bunch of his unequalled Guernseys, many of which were bedecked with the coveted blue ribbon.

M. O'Keefe of Arnett showed six thoroughbred Percherons, four grade Percherons, six Poland China hogs and a thoroughbred Jersey calf. All of these animals received premiums in their respective classes.

J. A. Roberts of Oconomowoc was judge of the cattle exhibit and performed his difficult duties with general satisfaction.

As usual the display of vegetables was firstclass, the showing being exceptionally good in potatoes. A feature that appealed to many in the main hall was the Red Cross booth, presided over by Mrs. L. A. Pomeroy, Miss Cora Turner and other Amherst ladies. They showed a portion of the work done there in behalf of the soldier and sailor boys, and even those unfamiliar with needle work were free to admit that every garment or article was well and neatly made.

Dog and pony shows, vaudeville attractions and the usual number of ice cream and confectionery stands did a rushing business on each of the three "big" days.

Although the Amherst track is not considered "fast," yet good race programs were put on and a big field of horses made this sport interesting.

On Wednesday afternoon the Junction City second nine played base ball with the Amherst Junction team, the latter club piling up the larger score. The first team from Junction City came down Thursday and tried conclusions with the Amherst aggregation, but the northern boys were defeated by a close score of 5 to 4.

Mrs. S. J. Allison of Green Bay acted as judge of the needle work and household display; A. A. Laabs of Waupaca performed like duties at the poultry and vegetable exhibits, and Mr. Fox of Waukesha assisted in the cattle awards. The latter gentleman is a prominent Guernsey breeder.

While a complete statement of receipts and disbursements may not be known for several weeks, it is assured that the Portage county fair association is several hundred dollars to the good, for which all are duly thankful.

Much credit is due the following officers, all of whom worked hard and faithfully to make the 1917 exhibit the grand success which it was: Dr. F. Metcalf, president; C. W. Utgard, vice president; B. O. Richter, secretary; Bartel Johnson, treasurer. The advisory committee, composed of John Keener, L. A. Pomeroy and E. N. Wold, furnished valuable assistance, as did also the various superintendents and many other Amherst people.

TO DISCUSS SCHOOL

Citizens Invited To Attend Adjourned Meeting of Council Next Tuesday Evening

At an adjourned meeting of the common council, to be held next Tuesday evening, the question of providing adequate accommodations at the High school will be up for consideration. The plan to erect the first unit of a new High school building, as proposed by the special committee of the board of education and covered by drawings already prepared, will be the chief topic of discussion.

The council wishes to obtain the sentiment of the general public before taking action along this line and extends an invitation to all citizens to attend the meeting next Tuesday. Each year the High school is more overcrowded and it is believed the time has arrived when definite action to relieve the situation is necessary.

The South Side park plan, particularly the proposition of J. Iverson to improve his property near the depot, as described in the report of the council meeting, published elsewhere in this paper, will also be taken up.

EXPORT ORDER WEAPON OF WAR

President's Proclamation Likely to Hasten End.

OFFICERS FROM THE RANKS

No More Commissions Go to Candidates in Civil Life After Second Series of Camps—Schools to Teach Enlisted Men—Red Cross Starts a Shipping Service.

[Special Correspondence.] Washington.—Use of export control as a war weapon to hasten the submission of Germany is seen here in President Wilson's proclamation placing further restrictions on overseas shipments. The proclamation contains the first formal announcement of the transfer of administration of export control from the department of commerce to the export administrative board, headed by Vance McCormick.

The proclamation directs that goods may not be sent to Europe and neutrals except under licenses and extends the list of commodities for which license is required in shipments to the allies and neutrals other than European countries.

The president in a statement accompanying the proclamation declares it is the main purpose of the government to see that no American products are made "the occasion of benefit to the enemy, either directly or indirectly." Neutrals already have been informed that the United States will see to it that no American goods may be used even to replace indirectly commodities forwarded by neutrals to Germany. The prohibition of exports to the central powers is understood to indicate that export control will supersede the British system of giving letters of assurance for American cargoes.

Commissions For Enlisted Men. Enlisted men of the national army, national guard and regular army will receive every opportunity to fit themselves for commissions. This is in line with the fixed policy of the government to take no more officers or officer candidates from civil life after the second series of officers' training camps, now in progress, has been completed. Thereafter all additional officers needed will be found in the ranks of the various branches of the war army.

To carry out this plan it has virtually been decided to establish an officers' school at each of the divisional training camps. Men from the ranks who show special qualifications will be sent to these schools. With staffs of French and British officers of experience on the firing lines on duty at each camp as advisers an unusual opportunity for lecture courses will be presented.

No More From Civil Life. The divisional officers' camps will make the third series of such camps arranged by the war department to provide men to command the enormous forces being raised for the war. No line commissions will be granted to men from civil life after they are started except that a few men who were denied admission to the other camps through loss of their orders in the mail or some other mischance may be given an opportunity in the third series.

A group of French or British army officers, specialists in various details of trench warfare, will be attached to national guard and national army camps under plans now adopted by the war department to expedite training troops for special conditions at the front. No serious shortage in clothing or equipment is expected when the national army is mobilized. Secretary Baker said that arrangements for the enormous supplies necessary for the new force are so well advanced that whatever shortage is found will be overcome quickly.

The same situation prevails as to can tonments. Most of the divisional training establishments are nearing completion, and all will be ready for the men as rapidly as they arrive. Mr. Baker visited the cantonment site at Annapolis Junction, Md., and was greatly impressed by the amount of work done there in a short time.

Red Cross Shipping Service. To handle the vast quantities of medical and relief supplies now being shipped almost daily to the Red Cross commission in Europe to aid the stricken peoples of France, Belgium, Serbia and Russia the establishment of a Red Cross transportation service was announced by the Red Cross war council. This new branch has been made possible through the co-operation of the French, British and Italian governments, the United States shipping board and the leading steamship and railroad companies. President Wilson has taken a personal interest in it.

Practically all the cargo space needed for the shipment of Red Cross supplies abroad has now been placed at the disposal of the war council. Much of it has been given free by the steamship companies and the allied governments. This will only be used for supplies most urgently needed abroad. The war council has appointed as manager of ocean shipping for the period of the war A. C. Fetterolf, freight traffic manager of the International Mercantile Marine company, who is to serve without salary. Mr. Fetterolf is to be assisted by A. F. Mack, president of the Cosmopolitan Shipping company, also a volunteer and by Walter Moore of the firm of Lanham & Moore.

The railroad war board, controlling the rail shipments of all the railroads in the country, has also notified the war council that Red Cross shipments going to the seacoast or elsewhere will be exempt from endurances, which will give them the right of way over all freight except that of the government. As about 100,000 special Japanese ambassador, gave out a statement defining the purposes of his mission to the United States. Members of the mission observed at Honolulu, at San Francisco and finally here in Washington indications that their coming might be misinterpreted by certain elements, and it was felt necessary to explain that no commercial or selfish interests were to be subserved.

The ambassador's statement follows: "The Imperial Japanese mission came to the United States for two reasons: First, to convey to the president and to the American people the appreciation and congratulations of the emperor and the nation of Japan for the entrance of the United States into the war as allies of Japan and the other nations now waging war against the enemies of freedom; second, to determine how best to co-operate with the United States in carrying the war to a triumphant conclusion."

"Having determined in what manner Japan can use her resources and strength to this end, it is the purpose of the mission to aid the allied cause further by showing what she can do with the help and co-operation of the United States. Japan is entirely unselfish in her aim. We are making for a common end, and we wish to aid in the common efforts."

The mission will discuss with the proper departments of the government questions concerning shipbuilding materials and necessities in other lines with the fullest understanding that such materials as well as the finished products will be for the use of the allied nations. In the case of ships made from steel and supplied by the United States assurances are to be given that they will be for allied use alone and will not be employed for Japanese commercial purposes after the war.

Want Us to Buy Supplies.

Italy, Belgium and Serbia have agreed to make their purchases in American markets through the allies' purchasing commission, of which Bernard M. Baruch is chairman. Great Britain, France and Russia already had agreed to do so, and other allied nations, it is expected, will join the federation shortly.

In announcing the agreement made by Italy, Belgium and Serbia, which was with the approval of President Wilson, Secretary McAdoo said:

"The members of the commission are also members of the recently created war industries board of the Council of National Defense and will thereby be able to thoroughly co-ordinate the purchases of the United States government with the purchases of the allied powers. It is believed that these arrangements will result in a more effective use of the combined resources of the United States and foreign governments in the prosecution of the war."

Army of 2,000,000.

Secretary of War Baker placed the prospective total of the American army at approximately 2,000,000 men. If more men are needed, further legislation will be required, he added.

He paid this tribute to the institution of the regular army:

"The expansion of the army is the most spectacular achievement in the history of this democracy. It more than amply justifies the faith that this country had in the institution and its personnel."

"It has been remarkable that the regular army, although a very small institution comparatively, had in it, as has been demonstrated, the seed for expansion into the mighty engine that it is today."

"From that small nucleus of trained men has grown and is growing the army that we shall require for the war and along lines suggested, developed and executed by the regular army. At all times it is a pleasure for me as secretary of war to say there has never on the part of the personnel of the regular army been anything but the fullest and most willing co-operation, spirit of service and efficiency."

"I WANT THE SWELLEST RANGE"

"I want the swellest range in the state, and I want it quick," said a man. He had postponed this purchase as long as he could—so long that he was now ashamed and to make up for all he determined to buy the "swellest," as he put it.

Here is what he bought.

He didn't give it a thought. It was fuzzy—full of frills and foolish ornaments—and he bought it. Had it been a piece of machinery, he would have read up on it, but he didn't have to use it, nor see it all day, nor clean it.

The Copper-Clad

If he had allowed his wife to select the range, she would have passed up such frills and selected the Copper-Clad, because of its simple beauty. She knows, too, how ranges rust out from the inside. She knows that the sheet of pure copper between the asbestos and range body doubles and trebles the life of a range. This is the first of a series of stories about the Copper-Clad range. We want every one—men, women and children—to know all about the Copper-Clad, and if you read these articles from week to week you will know exactly what Copper-Clad means. You will know what swasty asbestos does to a range.
